Breakfast Brings Smiles, Holiday Spirit

Recreation Committee Hosted Children, Families and Seniors on Dec. 6

What is now an annual tradition in Deerfield Township, Breakfast with Santa, took place at the Charlotte Brago Senior Center and the Municipal Building on Saturday, December 6.

The Deerfield Township Recreation Committee and Township Committee made and served breakfast for more than 200 smiling and happy youngsters, parents, grandparents and other guests.

Children jumped and laughed with excitement and adults smiled too as Santa entered the Senior Center after arriving amid lights and sirens on a Rosenhayn Fire Company fire truck.

Dozens and dozens of young people lined up to meet Santa, who welcomed them with a hearty "ho, ho, ho", listened to their Christmas wishes and gave each a gift and candy cane.

"My thanks goes to the Recreation Committee members and Township Committee members who take time to present such a happy event for our Township that puts everyone in the holiday spirit," said Mayor John Stanzone.

Thanks to Melody Montgomery for providing some photos for this article and to Rob Montgomery for his special contribution to this event.

Thousands Enjoy 36th Harvest Festival

It was a beautiful night and several thousand people came out to enjoy the rides and to take advantage of a special lower price for the weekend ride super pass.

Friday was threatened by rain but the opening night entertainment and events including SingFest contest went on as scheduled as the rain held off until later.

Saturday began with steady to heavy rain causing cancellation of the Festival Parade for the first time in the Festival's 36-year history.

Light rain and drizzle continued throughout the afternoon. As evening approached, the crowds began to arrive to enjoy country stars Lonestar and 7 Bridges, an outstanding tribute band to the Eagles. Several thousand people attended on Saturday night but less than half of what was expected if the weather had cooperated.

FARMER OF THE YEAR RECOGNIZED

Ned's Honey LLC, a honeybee apiary, owned by Ned and Doris Morgan was recognized as Deerfield Township Farmer of the Year at a presentation on the Festival stage on Saturday afternoon. They specialize in harvesting raw seasonal honey, typically spring and summer, from their hives. The Morgans also provide bees for pollination. Ned started beekeeping in 2008 after taking Rutgers University's "Beginning Beekeeping" course taught by Tim Schuler, the state apiarist, and Bob Hughes. Doris joined Ned in beekeeping in 2012 after taking the Jersey Cape Beekeeping Association beginning beekeeping series of classes.

Over the past several years, Ned and Doris have grown their apiary to 16 hives. This year they are planning on harvesting approximately 800 pounds of honey. Doris makes candles from the beeswax that is harvested at the same time as the honey.

BOY SCOUT EAGLE PROJECT BEAUTIFIES THE DEERFIELD TOWNSHIP MUNICIPAL BUILDING

The Deerfield Township Municipal Building’s landscaping, dating back to the building’s construction in 1969, 45 year’s ago, has been completely replaced thanks to the planning, leadership and labor provided by Stephen Colten Colican of Bridgeton and Boy Scout Troop 1098.

The project was the 14 year-old’s Eagle Scout Project. It took several months of planning beginning with discussions with Mayor John Stanzone and presentations to Scout leaders. Township Committeeman Cosmo Laurella and Ron Shinn, of Deerfield Public Works coordinated the project for the Township.

Materials and supplies were contributed by the Township as well as donations from County Line Nurseries, R & G Landscape Supply and Glenn's Auto Exchange. Over a day and a half and several hours of labor by the Scouts, Scout leaders, Cosmo and Ron, the project was completed in November.

Stephen and his father Glenn want to thank Mr. Laurella and Mr. Shinn for their outstanding cooperation and all of their work on the project.

The Township thanks Stephen, who is a freshman at Woodstown High School, all the volunteers from Boy Scout Troop and the businesses that made donations for providing this beautiful new landscaping for the Municipal Building.

Contact Scout Master Rusty Brady for more information about the Troop including becoming a Boy Scout or a Scout leader -- 856-371-0935.
